MARRIAGE DATE, TOO

Judge Tells Lawyers They Must Cudgel Out The Information

DOYLESTOWN, July 22 — An amendment has been filed by a Bristol lawyer to a libel in divorce because his client, the husband, had "discovered that his name is 'John William' instead of 'William John'." He also made a slight error in giving the date of his marriage. The husband libellant was wrong by a year and even the date of the month was in error.

"It is amazing how many men and women who want divorces don't know their own names," said Judge Boyer. "Frequently, they don't know when, where or why they were born."

This is the second time within a short period that the Court has been petitioned to have a divorce action amended because one of the parties did not give the accurate information.

"Counsel will do well to assume in the future that it will be necessary to cudgel the information out of the men and women in order to avoid further filing of amendments to petitions."

"Very often the Court discovers in desertion and non-support hearings that either the husband or wife can't remember the day they were married and do not seem to feel any embarrassment about their apparent lack of information," the Court said.

Business Girls Honor
Two Members at Shower

A meeting of Bristol Business Girls Club was held Tuesday evening in the Travel Club Home with the president, Miss Margaret Yeagle, presiding over a brief meeting. It was announced that a bake sale will be held July 24.

The club's annual outing will be held at the home of the club's councilor, Mrs. John L. Kileoyne, Edgely, in the form of a "doggie" roast and lawn party on Tuesday evening.

The following were appointed in charge of refreshments for the August meeting: Miss Lucy Norato, Mrs. Aletha Lencosky, and Miss Rose Spezzano.

The balance of the evening was spent in the form of a social. Mrs. J. Hunter was in charge of the entertainment. The stage was trimmed in pink and blue. On one table were gifts for Mrs. Joseph Weber, the former Mary Yeagle. Another table was arranged with gifts for Eunice McVaine, past president of the club, who was the recipient of an electric mixer—a gift from the club members.

Games were played and refreshments served. Mrs. Arthur Krams, Mrs. Leonard Dugan, and Miss Rose Marie Welsh served as hostesses. The tables were decorated with "black-eyed Susans" and graced by cakes, refreshments of tuna salad, cheese, crackers, pickles, punch, ice cream, cake and nuts were served.

S/SGT. JOHN O. KOWALEWSKI

The local U. S. Marine Corps recruiting sergeant announced today that the U. S. Marines are now accepting 18-year-old young men for one-year enlistments.

The monthly quota assigned this area cannot be exceeded, and will be filled on a "first come, first served" basis.

Applicants for one-year enlistments must have reached their 18th birthday and not reached their 19th anniversary.

S/SGT. John O. Kowaleski is available at Bristol post office each Tuesday from 11:30 a. m. until 1:30 p. m. to accept enlistments and to give further information regarding the U. S. Marines.

INDUCTIONS IN OCT.

Not to be outdone by recruiting offices in the larger cities in enlistments of 18-year-olds for the armed services, Bristol office also reached its quota on the first day of the drive, yesterday.

The first 18-year-old to enlist was Francis Bernard Murphy, 342 Hayes street.

According to the recruiting sergeant, Guy Simpson, at the local post office, workers there had to close the window early in the day because the quota had been filled. Enlistments for 18-year-olds may be closed, but the recruiting officer said that information is still available for anyone interested in joining the services.

Major General Lewis B. Hershey, Selective Service director, today disclosed that inductions under the 1948 draft law will not begin until October 1st, and possibly later. Which gives the eligible draftees plenty of time to get their affairs straightened out.

The local recruiting sergeant said they are still accepting straight enlistments and re-enlistments.

Service For Native of Bristol Is Arranged
For Sunday

A Bristol councilman, Harold G. Mitchener, died at his home here yesterday, after a lingering illness. He had been hospitalized for eight weeks, but returned home May 28, and was apparently recovering until about a week ago, when his condition became more grave.

HAROLD G. MITCHENER

Mr. Mitchener represented the third ward in borough council, and had been a member of that body for 11 years, being first elected in November, 1937, and re-elected for each successive term on the Republican ticket.

His survivors are his wife Lottie Dodson Mitchener; his mother, Mrs. Hettie E. Mitchener; a daughter, Eliza; a son, Harold D. Mitchener, all of 528 Swain street; three sisters, Mrs. Elizabeth Haines, Burlington, N. J.; Mrs. Bertha Ellis, Mrs. Edith Johnson, Phila.; and one brother, Frank Mitchener, Bristol.

Service will be held Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Moiden funeral home, 133 Otter street, with burial in Bristol cemetery. Friends may call Saturday evening.

Mr. Mitchener was born in Bristol, April 26, 1898, son of Mrs. Hettie Mitchener and the late William A. Mitchener. After attending Bristol public schools, Mr. Mitchener was employed for a time by the Bristol Printing Company, and then took up new duties at the shipyards of the Merchant Ship Building Corporation, here. Later he was transferred by that company to Chester. Following two years

Three Slightly Injured;
Automobile Rolls Over

An automobile driver and his two passengers were slightly hurt last night when two cars crashed on Route 13, near Second avenue. The accident occurred at 9:30 o'clock.

The injured: Donald Arrison, Magnolia road, Bristol township, bruised right knee.

William Everitt, Lambertson street, Trenton, N. J., brush burns of right arm.

Thomas Ostrowski, Beaver Dam road and Venice avenue, bruised right shoulder.

None of the injured required medical attention. They were all riding in the Arrison car, which, it is said, rolled over three times.

The escape of the occupants with such slight injuries is considered remarkable by those who were attracted to the scene.

A car operated by Albert H. Lowack, Jr., West Lehigh avenue, Philadelphia, and one driven by Arrison were involved in the crash. Lowack was attempting a left turn onto Route 13 from Second avenue. He told police he did not see the Arrison car, travelling west, into whose path he drove. Arrison, in a tempting to avoid a collision, turned to his right, and hit the gravel shoulder of the highway, which caused his car to roll over.

The accident was investigated by Chief of Police Linford J. Jones and Patrolmen Vanzant and McCahan.

STICK TO THE NEWS

The Voice of America seems to have an over-developed yen for getting into trouble. It has just emerged from well deserved criticism in Congress because a series of broadcasts to South America drew a needlessly derogatory caricature of this country. Now it is inviting more criticism by departing from a course of sending out news reports.

For several days, the State Department has announced, the voice has been broadcasting a radio editorial to all nations in Europe except Yugoslavia. Entitled, "The Pot and the Kettle," it deals with the charges made against Tito by the Cominform. It says the Russians are attacking the Yugoslavs for modeling their state on the Soviet and this is a case of the pot calling the kettle black "blown up to staggering size."

Regardless of whether the point is sound, it is highly questionable whether the Voice should make it by editorializing on its own hook when it could accomplish its purpose by quoting American press comment on this development. The opinion stated by the Voice will be regarded as an expression of the United States government. Consequently, the United States is now in the position of taking a hand in the internal affairs of other nations.

Thus the Voice has made observations about the Soviet that the State Department has refrained from making in any other way. What the Russians think isn't important, but the method is devious and could be abused.

Anything the State Department has to say need not be routed through the Voice. And the Voice should attempt to stick to the news, objectively reported. There is no better propaganda than the facts.

After his visit to the picket lines, Henry Wallace said Detroit is "uninformed, confused and groping." But there is some question as to what sort of driver Henry would make if he got a car.

When Kipling wrote: "When it comes to slaughter you will do your work on water," he had never heard of the motor car driver who claims afterward he had only a couple of beers.

Judging by the manner in which they are going after the farm vote, politicians with lay fever are certainly to be pitted

Inside Your Congress

"You're A Rat!"

—by—
SAMUEL B. PETTINGILL
"The Gentleman from Indiana"

Across the street from the federal building in downtown Foley Square in New York City, a group of officials and members of unions in the wholesale warehouse and retail department store industries jeered at former right-wing members. The latter had been expelled for anti-Communist activities in the unions. They were now called "rats."

Both groups had been subpoenaed by the Congressional subcommittee on Education and Labor, investigating Communist influence in the immense retail department store industry of New York City, which employs thousands of workers. The chairman of the subcommittee is Charles J. Kersten, Republican of Wisconsin. Congressman Hartley was also present. He said that the unionists will be required to declare whether they are Communists or face prosecution for contempt of Congress.

"Go get your dirty silver," the union officials shouted as they watched the right-wingers walk away from the court house. At noon, over four hundred pickets appeared with banners denouncing the Taft-Hartley Act and Congressman Hartley. Squads of police were called to control the milling spectators and sympathizers in the corridors outside the hearing room. Violent supporters of the leftists demanded to be admitted to the hearing room. The public relations "counsel" for the pro-Communist leaders is a former member of the staff of the Communist Daily Worker.

David Livingston, vice-president of Local 65, was shown a 1935 publication of the Young Communist League, in which there was a picture of Lenin, Stalin and four others. Chairman Kersten, pointing to one of the pictures, asked Livingston: "Is that your picture?" Livingston replied that he was not sure, it was such a long time ago, but there was some resemblance. Mrs. Esther Letz, director of Local 65, and Arthur Osman, president of the same local, as well as Livingston, refused to answer the question on Communist membership despite assurance by the committee that their rights would be safeguarded fully. The subcommittee would meet afterwards in executive session to consider a recommendation to cite the three for contempt.

In a last minute speech, Osman shouted to the members of the Congressional committee: "We will run people like you out of Congress."

The labor situation in New York department stores has reached a crisis. Customers' complaints of lack of courtesy, attention, and service have been continuous and increasing. Inside the unions, factional fights between officials and right-wing anti-Communists have been growing. Loyal Americans are leaving the Communist unions. In a poll taken last year, an overwhelming majority of the rank and file union members were opposed to Communists holding office in labor unions.

Charges of Communist domination by officials have multiplied in the ranks of labor in recent weeks, and since the passage of the Taft-Hartley Act.

In Russia and Europe, it has been a chief tactic of the Communists to bore into labor unions and take them over. It is one of the means by which they over-threw governments. The Taft-Hartley Law gave loyal Americans in organized labor a weapon by which to defend their unions from Communist conquest. Mr. Truman demands that this law be repealed.

Faith Clarke's SHOPPING TIPS FOR BUDGETEERS

"BOYS' CENTER":
You and the boys will enjoy shopping together for junior masculinities in this department set aside for the youngsters wearing eight to twenty sizes. The department carries just about everything younger Beau Brummels need. The prices at the junior shirt counter are especially fair for value received. There are, for example, some good shirts (choice of long or short sleeves) with two-way collars. There's a choice of weaves — broadcloth, Oxford cloth, shub-weave, etc., in good plain colors or novelty patterns, the latter including Western designs. Sizes 8 to 20 years. Only $2.95. Snellenburgs (3rd fl.)

FLATTERY PLUS
characterizes the new hats for early fall. Style-conscious women are already flaunting them. Those on display in the Second Floor Millinery Dept. of Snellenburgs are lovely indeed. You'll find satins, taffetas, felts. Soft draping or folding seems to be the keynote. The blacks are a "must," and the new greens, grays and toasts will make stunning changes. Many can be worn with late summer costumes. All are suitable for completing fall ensembles. Drop in, try 'em on, have fun. A bit of vanity is what most of us need — moralists to the contrary! (2nd fl.)

THE "NEW LOOK"
is something you can give an old or even a new bathroom, at the small cost of $3.25. At this special price the Snellenburg Notions Dept. is now offering sets of plastic shower and window curtains or drapes, in gay floral patterns. Gather up these posted sets while you may! (1st fl.)

HOSTS & HOSTESS:
ES like to be remembered before or after visits. They'll both like the large decorative, historical plates (called "commemorative" plates) for wall hanging. The interesting ones in the Snellenburg China & Glassware Dept. have centers showing Independence Hall, with Carpenter's Hall, Betsy Ross House, etc., as a scenic border decoration. They are $2 each. Wire plate-hangers are 35¢ each. Nice for birthday presents, too. (3rd fl.)

Do send clippings with mail orders when you can! Phone free (5c, 10c, and 15c out-of-town calls only). Penna.—ENT 10160; Jersey—WX1159. Shop located Market 11th to 12th Sts., Philadelphia, — through to 1125-29 Chestnut St. Be heard from you!

Faithfully, FAITH.

STEP AND SPACE
savers are the outdoor rotary clothes poles selling in the Snellenburg Housefurnishings Dept. Strongly made of galvanized metal that withstands weather and equipped with 140 feet of clothesline, these poles are tops among household helps. Each is accompanied by a permanent ground socket, out of which the pole can be lifted and folded for storage between washes. $12.95 is a small price to pay for such an efficient assistant when laundering. (3rd fl.)

VACATION WEAR
and tear on watches shortens the life of many a good timepiece. Experts advise having watches gone over after return from shore or country. Rust, sand, and just the good plain earth will take a devastating toll if not promptly eliminated from the delicate mechanisms that regulate our hours and years. The Snellenburg Watch Repair Dept. is noted for conscientious, prompt and fair-priced work. You'll find the Department on the main floor — drop in. (1st fl.)

BATHING TRUNKS
for men are to be had in a nice range of saving prices in the Snellenburg Sportswear Goods Dept. Thin and fat men alike will float at the range of sizes — 28 to 50! Your men will find both boxer and fitted styles, in wool, rayon, lastex, part-wool, rayon satin, cotton gabardine, etc. There are both prints and plaids. Prices are from $2.95 to $6.95. These desirable makers are tailored by such famous makers as Jantzen, McGregor, Robert Bruce, etc. (3rd fl.)

GIRLS' DUNGAREES
sturdy, dark blue ones with riveted seams, zippered pockets, etc., can be had for only $2.95 in the Girls and Teens Dept. of Snellenburgs. They're the wanted ankle-length for easy rolling. There's no garment so comfortable for all-day play or work-at-home wear. Sizes are 10 to 16. (2nd fl.)

Forum on Safe Driving Conducted by Kiwanians

PENNDL, July 22—The Bucks County Lincoln Highway Kiwanis club members listened to a timely topic of discussion at its dinner-meeting held on Tuesday evening at the Royal Gardens. The program was an informal forum conducted by the public affairs committee with John A. A. Crowley acting as moderator.

The forum concerned "Safe Driving In Our High Schools," and the speakers who participated in the discussion were: F. Eugene Klinger, supervising principal of Southampton-Warminster high school, and Harry L. Harding, chairman of Bucks County Safe Driving Campaign, and also a director of the Southampton school district.

Harry L. Harding maintained that "Our accident rates are appalling—for instance, in 1947, approximately 35,000 people were killed in automobile accidents in the United States. In 1947 there were 1,240,000 persons injured in automobile accidents. Approximately 98% of all auto accidents are due to carelessness," asserted Mr. Harding. How can we prevent them? Pamphlets on safe driving have been circulated by insurance companies, drives have been started in an effort to curb accidents, but most of these drives are of a general nature. The work must be carried to the community directly, soliciting the aid of service clubs and the teachers and parents. Driver training programs have been inaugurated in some of the high schools and the results have been most encouraging. Statistics show that of 800 trained drivers only 24 were involved in accident in 1947. Of 800 non-trained drivers, 112 were involved in accidents. These figures prove the necessity of having the driver training programs in effect."

F. Eugene Klinger, speaking of the safe driving course at Southampton high school, explained the results and cost of this program.

Class instruction is given to the students, and different tests such as "width of vision" and "depth perception tests," are conducted. About eight hours of actual driving instruction will usually qualify the student as a driver. After the classroom instruction and practical instruction behind the wheel is given, the student is taken to Bristol for his test. The cost of teaching the student to drive was approximately $8.00 for the year. The school uses a dual control car and heavy insurance is taken out as protection for all concerned.

John A. A. Crowley introduced W. C. Burbage, superintendent of Langhorne Water Company, and Frank Kincel introduced Edward Peterson.

Paul Sauerby announced that on July 27th, Ralph Fried, secretary of Glenside Kiwanis club, will give a report on the Kiwanis convention held in California.

union leader, is expected to surrender today.

Henry A. Wallace called the indictments an attempt by the Administration to "make fear to stay in power" and an attack on his third party.

The party's tentative platform draft called for nationalization of banks and key industries, assailed the Marshall Plan and asked a negotiated settlement with Russia. One leader urged a march on Washington Monday to demand that the special session of Congress pass the civil rights program.

It is doubtful that draftees will be inducted before Oct. 1st. Major General Hershey said. Throughout the nation 18-year-olds rushed to enlist for one year instead of waiting to be drafted.

NEWPORTVILLE TOPS TOWNSHIP FOR FIFTH PLACE

In the important battle for fifth place in the Bristol Youth League, the Newportville Indians topped the Bristol Township team, 5-1, on the former's field. Fifth place is the final playoff position in the circuit. Other Youth League wins were scored by the Junior Hibernians and Bristol Terrace, while the Croydon and Bell's Aces game ended in a 2-2 tie.

Paul Schmidt hurled the Newportville team to its triumph over the Township nine. He gave up five hits and had 13 strikeouts to his credit. Jay Katz was the losing moundman.

Bristol Terrace moved to within one-half game of first place with a 10-5 victory over the Penn A. C. team. Roscoe, Dave Muth, and Frank Barbetta had three hits each for the winners with Muth also crossing the plate three times.

Cummings and Muth hurled for the Terrace with Righy doing the flinging for Penn A. C.

"Ed" Crossin blanked the Fourth Ward team for the Junior Hibernians, he allowing three scattered hits. The Hibboes made eight hits off "Lou" Piarro, with McHugh again leading the batters with two out of four.

The Croydon A. C.-Bell's Aces affair was interesting from start to finish with the Croydon team knocking the count in their last turn with the bat. Croydon had four hits off Petrizzi while the losers collected three bingles off Joe Ashby. Ashby fanned 11 batters while Petrizzi had eight strikeouts. Petrizzi and Joe Dominick each had two hits for their respective teams.

A'S BASEBALL SCHOOL TO OPEN AT DOYLESTOWN

Bucks County youngsters will have an opportunity next week to get first-hand instruction from major league baseball experts when Connie Mack's traveling baseball school opens a week's stay at Doylestown under auspices of the Philadelphia Athletics.

Boys who show enough ability "to take up a professional career" will be signed to Athletics and assigned to one of the club's ten farm teams.

The school, which has already attracted more than 4000 youngsters in six weeks' operation, is directed by A's Scouts Ira F. Thomas, Charles Gault and Bernard Guest, and John W. (Jack) Coombs, coach of Duke University. Thomas and Coombs formed one of the A's most famous batteries 35 years ago.

They will give young boys the benefit of specialized training in the art of pitching, batting and fielding. The schedule calls for morning teaching sessions and afternoon camp games with various combinations of infielders, outfielders and batteries used interchangeably.

Thomas said boys 16 years of age and over are eligible to attend the sessions which will be held daily Monday through Saturday (July 26 to 31). Applicants must bring their own shoes, gloves and uniforms. Equipment will be furnished by the Athletics.

Other dates scheduled include: Flemington, N. J., August 2, 3, and 4; Dover, N. J., August 5, 6 and 7; Pemberton, N. J., August 9, 10 and 11; Mount Holly, N. J., August 12, 13 and 14; Lansford, Pa., August 16, 17 and 18; Minersville, Pa., August 19, 20 and 21; Bloomsburg, Pa., August 23, 27 and 28; Hamilton, N. Y., August 25 and 26; and Hazleton, Pa., week of August 30.

JUNIOR LEGION FORFEITS GAME AND LOSES HOPE

The Bristol Junior Legion team lost all hopes for the Bucks County championship last evening as it forfeited to the Langhorne Junior Legion, 9-0.

As the result of the forfeiture, the Bristol Legion management cancelled this evening's engagement at Perkasee.

Using several "fill-ins," Bristol played an exhibition with Langhorne, game ending in a 1-1 deadlock. "Johnny" Pindar held Langhorne to two hits while Dale Provenza gave Bristol three hits.

FIFTH WARD BOWS TO LANGHORNE LEGION

LANGHORNE, July 22 — Failing to hold a four-run advantage, the Fifth Ward Sporting Club bowed to the Langhorne Legion nine, 6-5, last evening, in a Suburban League game on Playwick field.

The Warders had a 5-1 lead going into the last half of the sixth when "Smithers" Cordisco blew the lead on three walks, singles by J. Lukens and R. Lukens and a triple by Paul Roby.

Fifth Ward outthit the winners, 11-7, but three of the Langhorne hits were triples. Gene Fannin led the batters with three out of four, all singles, while Dick Lukens had a triple and single for Langhorne.

"Al" Knox was the starting Langhorne peckman and he gave way to Roby in the third. Roby was the winning pitcher.

Gene Stockton played a fine game at shortstop for the losing team.

Service wherever you go

In just two years we've built and sold more fine cars than any other new manufacturer in automobile history.

Why? Because America fell in love with the KAISER and the FRAZER on sight. Folks are streaming into Kaiser-Frazer showrooms and learning from present owners how dependable these two great cars are. They're learning—from people who drive them—how soundly they are built . . . how economical they are . . . how much joy there is in owning one.

THESE ARE THE MOST-COPIED CARS IN AMERICA, road-proved by 250,000 owners in two billion miles of driving.

Because plenty of Americans insist on comfort, convenience, style and value, traditional leaders had to "move over"—as Kaiser-Frazer became the fourth largest manufacturer of motor cars in the world in two short years.

Why wait? Enjoy your new car this summer. You'll get fair treatment and highest trade-in allowance.

By Davis J. Walsh,
(INS Sports Writer)

LONDON, July 22 — (INS) — here's always a sense of disquiet and uncertainty under the spurious glare of arrival day and America's Olympic cavalcade, moving on toward quarters at Wembley Village, and by the feeling honestly, to say.

Ordinarily, few things are more certain than an Olympic meet, with its grandeur and bickering and its high drama.

But this one coming up for world premiere at Wembley Stadium, eight days hence, threatens to develop symptoms that are all its own. As discovery no doubt the Americans will make at the proper time.

That time will be late next week when they set out to win the events which they feel themselves currently favored.

The two sprints, with Barney Well, Mel Patton and Harrison Hillard; the hurdles, two relays and nine of field competitions. They don't know yet that favorites are usually fall-guys—that not even the universally-concerned victory of Herb (British-subject) McKenley, 400 metres is immune to swift suster.

Of course the percentage of victories among Olympic favorites is high and betting the "chalk," no doubt, is the only sensible way. But men have been known to get a quicker, playing three-card monte with strangers.

For short-price favorites just don't provide the kind of chips you are required to leave in the middle of the likes of that 100-metre race at Paris in '24.

Or the 800 at Stockholm in 1912, where the Mercerburg school boy, Meredith, broke two world records—by mistake.

The revered Mel Sheppard, defending champion, had beaten Meredith in American tryouts, so had he, Caldwell.

And now, only 200 metres from the Olympic finish, Sheppard was apparently a certain winner, and Caldwell was no where much—having Meredith gathering himself for a supreme effort to hold second place.

Quite suddenly, he knew he was being menaced on the outside. It was Hans Braun, the great German. Rated Sheppard's top rival, Braun finally was making his move—from behind a blazing 52-1-10 start.

He challenged on the far turn, and fought him off. He came again swinging into the stretch-run. Ted, head back in that characteristic way that soon was to become mous, stayed inches in front. And ere they hung, locked in desperation and gorged arteries, until the pe loomed dead ahead.

Then, as suddenly as he'd challenged at 200, Braun was through at 100.

But Ted, head back and eyes glazed, went plunging on and over saw the tape. The tape? Yes, ditte. He'd done the inconceivable, achieved saga that has lived rough the generations, even to this day.

In trying to save second place, he'd won the race. He'd won, and didn't know it. Beaten Sheppard, he didn't see him.

And, in the doing, he set two records, 1:51.9 for 800 metres and 52.1 for the half—that endured several decades—give or take a decade.

That, in essence, is the great lottery they call the Olympic games, and so is this:

The scene, that sky-blue arena, Colombes, just outside Paris, the time is 1924; the auspices, a x-man final for the Olympic championship at 100 metres. Four of the five are Americans.

Famous Americans, to be exact for example the late Charles U.addock, defending champion and one of the "fastest humans."

Likewise, Loren Murchison, who one out of his crouch like something from a sling-shot; the flawless Jackson Scholz and Syracuse's puny Chet Bowman, seldom beaten.

It was a monopoly, a cinch. All they had to beat were a couple of jokes, one of them an Englishman named H. M. Abrahams, of Cambridge, who had some minor success dual meets with Harvard and Yale.

The American "big four" lolled the shade under sweat-suits, secure from the treacherous draft. Abraham composed himself while waiting the finals by sitting in a covered track array at a table in the stadium cafe, sipping tea and occasionally leering in a well-bred way at the sun, which beat with bite-hot malice upon his unprotected head.

The abiding question was whether the Americans would sweep the first four places—or only three.

Then they shot the gun, and America ran two-four-five-six behind an Abrahams who acted as though he thought Paddock was something they used for horses.

Harley, as a matter of fact, wasn't even a good second; merely a bad fourth.

But anyone correctly calling that audy finish in advance could have named his own price.

Class, of course, has a way of slipping—and generally winds up on the top step of the dais, howling the head beneath a tasty sprig of winner's laurel.

But the unforeseen lurks constantly near, ready to conk some champion-in-waiting behind his large, red ear. As for instance:

That world's "record" broad jump, around 25'-6", made by Georgetown's Bob Legendre, in a mere decathlon event at the 24 games.

(They discovered later that the runway was down hill, but left the book unchanged.)

Said ex-recordist De Hart Hubbard, waiting for next days Olympic championship jump for which Legendre didn't qualify:

"That's a 24-hour record." Then he didn't sleep all night, worrying whether it was or not. It wasn't, but Hubbard was lucky. He won anyhow at 24'-5 1/8".

At the same meet—Ralph Spearow, the first 14-foot man (in practice), falling at 12'-6" in the pole vault.

And Scotland's Eric Liddell, who hadn't shown much in an American visit, setting a then record of 47.6 in the 400 final.

Four years before at Antwerp—Allen Wooding, a baldish refugee from "picnic" meets around Philadelphia, beating the great Paddock for the 200-metre title. Josef Guillemot, the Frenchman, beating Nurmii of all people—at 5,999 metres.

beating the listed records in the 400-metre hurdles at their team tryouts.

But at Amsterdam, the title and race went to Lord Burghley, who probably never broke a worth-while record in his life. By this time, anyhow, you get the general drift.
